Join us to discuss:

How do competences developed in youth work and volunteering get validated in the context of higher education?

How can we enhance this validation?

SALTO Training and Cooperation Resource Centre and the National Agencies Estonia, France, Germany, and Slovenia cooperate to explore how the competences developed in youth work and volunteering get validated in the context of higher education in these countries, and how to enhance that. As part of this cooperation, a study is being compiled. The seminar will provide a space to discuss the outcomes of the study and to consider steps forward.
